

"Finding Inner Peace During Troubled Times is a very special book because it was written by a person whose working life has been in the tough world of business and not someone in the ministry or whose vocation is spiritual direction."

JOHN C. DANFORTH served as a United States Senator from Missouri for 18 years and is an ordained Episcopal priest. Author of Resurrection: The Confirmation of Clarence Thomas.

"Bill Moss takes Jesus at his word, that he promises us inner peace in the here-and-now. Bill's authority comes from much prayer and study, many conversations, the crucible of suffering, and the experience of healing and hope. He gives us clear, credible guidance how to discover this gift of peace."

(THE REV.) CURTIS ALMQUIST, SSJE

The Society of Saint John the Evangelist, Cambridge, Massachusetts

William Moss' career has involved oil and gas exploration, real estate development, ranching operations, security investments, motion picture and television production, and public service. Among his many accomplishments, Moss has organized and successfully operated 15 corporations. He established the Free Enterprise Institute at Southern Methodist University and was appointed to the Executive Advisory Board of the Margaret Thatcher Foundation. Moss served on the George H. W. Bush for President National Steering Committee. From 1989 to 1992, he was Chairman of the President's Drug Advisory Council which was part of the Executive Branch of the White House. He also served on the Board of Trustees of the American University in Washington D.C. Currently Moss serves as a Trustee of the George H. W. Bush Presidential Library Foundation. He is a member of St. Michael's Episcopal Church in Dallas, Texas, and is active with the Fellowship of the Society of St. John the Evangelist Monastery in Cambridge, Massachusetts. Since becoming an Episcopalian in 1995, he has pursued Bible study, written many prayers, and studied Christian meditation. He resides in Dallas with his wife Dianne and little dog Champ.